DNA LANGUAGES: LANGUAGE TRAINERS FOR PROFESSIONALS

Learn languages in a way that works for you. Interactive, creative, efficient, and effective. DNA Languages offers this possibility. Individual or small-scale group lessons (maximally eight people), entirely tailored to your personal needs. Completely customized, using appropriate communication course materials for professionals. We believe that only the best, most experienced, and enthusiastic lecturers are good enough for our clients. We ensure that quality and flexibility always come first .

LANGUAGE COURSES WE OFFER

- Dutch
- English
- German
- French
- Spanish
- Italian

WHAT CAN YOU EXPECT AFTER YOUR LANGUAGE TRAINING?

Effective communication skills that you can use at work to improve communication with colleagues and clients:

- improvements in speech
- more ease in conducting business by telephone
- ability to conduct meetings more comfortably
- improvements in negotiation skills
- improvements in writing skills
- more insight into the international business culture

HOW DO WE GO ABOUT THIS?

Prior to starting your language training, we will conduct an initial personal intake in order to pinpoint your personal goals and objectives. Based on this intake, we will develop a personalized training that meets your specific needs. Over the course of the language training, you will be offered a variety of practical assignments, business games, and on-the-job training. Throughout the training, we will continue to listen to your feedback. Is there anything we can change or adjust? Let us know! Personal contact and paying attention to your personal requirements will enable us to achieve the results you want and significantly improve your communication skillset.

CHOOSE THE COURSE FORMAT THAT SUITS YOU BEST

“A suitable language training for everyone”

During all of our trainings you will be immersed in the language of your choice. All of our trainings are based on the concept of ‘full immersion’, which has been proven to yield successful results. This means that during your language training we will only speak in the language that you are learning to speak. Yes, even you!

Our comprehensive range of training methods:

Intensive individual language courses - Do you have a limited amount time? With our individual corporate communication courses for professionals your language skills will improve rapidly in a short amount of time.

Flexible private training courses - Does a more flexible time schedule work better for you? We offer flexible corporate communication language courses for professionals, as well as flexible language courses that target language skills for daily use.

Workshops - Would you prefer to work together in a language workshop? Our intensive workshops are set up using specific themes. You can partake per half-day session. During these workshops, you will learn effective communication skills based on situations that you encounter at work.

Group training - A group training can be organized at a company's request. The weekly sessions are designed thematically and directed at the communal needs of the group.

Written communication courses - Written communication courses are available for all levels and languages (private lessons or group lessons are available). The written communication training is aimed at improving all of your (business) correspondence. We also organize interactive workshops aimed at improving your written communication upon request.

In-company training - All courses, with the exception of the intensive training courses, can be offered in-company. Our language coach will come to your office and take the necessary material with them, saving you the travel time.

Skype lessons - Do you have little time to travel, or do you live far away or abroad, but would you still like to improve your language skills from the comfort of your own home? Then our Skype lessons are the right solution for you.

ABOUT US

“Only the best is good enough!”

Anneke Siemons

“A language course should not only be interesting and efficient, but it should also be motivational and fun!” This is the credo of Anneke Siemons, language acquisition expert and founder of DNA Languages. After studying Applied Linguistics at the University of Groningen, Anneke gained almost twenty years of experience in the language acquisition setting. Many professionals, including a large number of public figures, were coached in language of their choice by Anneke or one of her colleagues. We teach in an effective, efficient, and flexible manner with an occasional joke in-between for good measure.

DNA Languages was founded in 2010. With her focus on the highest quality, Anneke recruits only the very best language teachers to work with.

OUR TRAINERS

Our language teachers have years of experience in developing and teaching customized language courses for the corporate market. They are all highly qualified native speakers, or have extensive work experience in the country of the target language. You will be taught by a teacher that suits your personal needs and requirements. Let our language experts guide and motivate you during your language course. Our courses are personal and flexible, and can be attended at our location in The Hague, in your own office, or from the comfort of your own home. Everything is possible.

OUR LOCATION

Since 1 January 2016, we have been located in the judicial capital The Hague, in a beautiful 19th-century styled neighborhood: the Archipel, located between the old city center and the beach. We offer our language courses from a striking and stately building. This peaceful surrounding allows you to concentrate on and immerse yourself in the language of your choice. There is a small but luxurious hotel a few minutes' walk from our location. Besides the authentic Indian restaurants, a diverse range of other cuisines can be found in the neighborhood. We warmly welcome you to come visit us in our beautiful building situated on the Nassauplein. Our location is easily accessible by car or public transport. There are parking possibilities in the immediate vicinity.
